

Mental Health and Crisis Resources

Nursing school is exciting and challenging at the same time! This is true for students, faculty, and staff. So, to maintain energy and feel good, it is important to engage in daily self-care activities such as getting adequate rest, good nutrition, and exercise. Use affirmations daily to support a positive attitude. Below is a list of mental health resources should you or a fellow student need some additional support. Remember, in an emergency, call 911. For suicide and crisis you can also call 988.
