Organization: What should be in my school notebook?

There are many key strategies for academic success, such as knowing what study materials to create and how to organize those materials in a way that facilitate effective study strategies.

The following notebook system gives direction for the kind of materials to consider and how to save them in an organized way. With an organized system, you can easily access your notes each week for self-quizzing and review.

| Large notebook (one for each course) | One notebook for each subject or course
1-16 tabs (one for each week of the semester)
Stays at home
Add weekly materials at the end of each week |
| Small 1.5-inch notebook | One tab for each subject or course
Keep one week of materials for each course
Take with you into public (school, library, etc.)
At end of each week scan contents to computer
Then move weekly contents to large notebook |
| Contents for each week | PPT/Lecture notes
Textbook readings (Cornell notes)
Objectives (Cornell notes)
Vocabulary (Cornell notes)
Concept maps
Pictures, graphs, charts
Handouts, articles
Other
May use colored tabs to separate each type of notes. |
| Weekly review for each course | Review one content item from each prior week
Review through self-quizzing
Review all material during break between semesters |

This publication is supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) as part of an award totaling $1,982,942 with 0% percentage financed with non-governmental sources. The contents are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily represent the official views of, nor an endorsement, by HRSA, HHS, or the U.S. Government. For more information, please visit HRSA.gov.